I am so grateful that you have joined us for this special night in honor of those who have made a positive impact on the important work that we do at IAHD.

Tonight, we recognize and celebrate the contributions so many have made to help support IAHD’s mission of helping people live their best lives. We highlight Morgan Stanley for their steadfast engagement and support of IAHD, Ann T. Hardiman for her legacy of philanthropy that lives on through the Ann T. Hardiman Foundation and Subreina Davis, IAHD’s Employee of the Year for her direct impact on the lives of so many. These honorees are stellar examples of commitment, sacrifice and excellence.

Thank you to the IAHD Board of Directors and the IAHD Leadership Committee for their tireless efforts in creating an incredible evening and for the work they do every day to make sure IAHD’s legacy continues. We are grateful for their leadership, advocacy and dedication.

I know this will be an incredible night and I feel privileged to share it with you all!

Sincerely,

Omayra Andino

June 15, 2023

The Institutes of Applied Human Dynamics (IAHD) was founded 66 years ago in response to parents seeking support and assistance for their loved ones with special needs. IAHD positively impacts the lives of people with intellectual and developmental disabilities, and their families. The organization continues to grow today and has blossomed to provide 34 residences with multiple day programs throughout Westchester and the Bronx.

Professionals at IAHD devote themselves diligently and thoughtfully to providing round-the-clock care to over 600 loved ones and in planning and carrying out dozens of events and enrichment programs throughout the year. IAHD is proud to partner with local community groups and advocates in sharing the talents and creativity of the individuals we serve.

The 2023 fundraiser is proudly again at the legendary Cutting Room, a unique state of the art music venue in the heart of New York City. Building off last year’s impactful musical theme, the evening will feature performances by Grammy nominated artists and friends of IAHD, New York Yankees legend, Bernie Williams and guitar virtuoso, Gil Parris.

I am truly grateful for the support, dedication, and commitment of our Board of Directors, as we work together unified in carrying out our mission to further the IAHD community. We invite you to join us in supporting this wonderful organization. Your important dollars ensure that IAHD continues providing critical and innovative programs. I sincerely thank you for sharing your generosity and kindness.

Morgan Stanley

2023 Honoree
Corporate Excellence Award

Morgan Stanley
Morgan Stanley has been an integral partner with IAHD for over ten years, serving on both the IAHD Board of Directors & the IAHD Leadership Committee.

Morgan Stanley believes in creating significant and meaningful impact for people in the communities where we live and work, both by collaborating long-term with leading nonprofit organizations and by mobilizing our employees to leverage their collective talents to help make the world a better place.

Morgan Stanley prioritizes diversity, equity, and inclusion across all programs to work towards ensuring that everyone benefits from our efforts to effect transformative change.

Their steadfast support has enabled IAHD to continue innovative programming for the over 800 people IAHD serves annually.

Tonight, we are grateful to honor this corporation, and recognize two outstanding individuals from Morgan Stanley: Jeff DiNapoli and Jeff Winik.

Thank you for your commitment to community and making a difference.
Ann T. Hardiman

Ann T. Hardiman was an incredible woman who, as a teacher, cared deeply about her students. She worked tirelessly to expand their horizons, to provide opportunities for them, and to challenge them to grow. In retirement, Ann cultivated her interests in politics, photography, and the arts. Her funds are managed by two dear friends, Catherine Patten, RSHM and Susan Mamis, who continue to share Ann’s love of helping others through philanthropy.

IAHD is proud to honor Ann’s love of life and learning. Throughout generous funds provided by the Ann T. Hardiman Trust, IAHD has initiated a life skills training program through culinary arts, horticulture, and business development. Additionally, the Ann T. Hardiman Trust has enabled IAHD to advance their programming with a multi-sensory room to include special sensory equipment which can either stimulate the user’s mental activity, provide a relaxing environment, or promote interaction.

According to Ann’s long-time friends and advisors, Ann would have been shy about being publicly recognized for her generosity. However, she would not have been shy about supporting the work of IAHD.

Richard P. Biondi

Richard P. Biondi was an extraordinary man who IAHD recognized with an annual Corporate Breakfast for many years. Rich was truly a giant in the business, civic, and philanthropic communities in Westchester County. He embodied leadership, touching many lives through his involvement with community organizations too numerous to mention.

IAHD was, hands down, Rich’s favorite organization. He dropped everything for IAHD. He served on the Board of Directors for many years and supported the organization however he could for more than three decades. He was a firm believer in helping others, particularly helping the adults IAHD live their best lives.

Rich emceed many events for IAHD, filling the room with supporters. His opening remarks were always about how special the IAHD staff was and how there are so many people care for the many who need it.

Both of Richard’s children, Richard II and Jennifer, understand the importance of helping those that are not able to help themselves from their role model, dad.

IAHD is grateful for Rich’s important work and recognizes him with the newly founded Richard P. Biondi Philanthropic Award.
Employee Of The Year 2023

She is caring and mindful of everyone’s needs and relates well with all.

Subreina demonstrates leadership and promotes teamwork. She is always willing to assist co-workers and offer support where needed. She unselfishly shares her ideas and efforts to organize activities, projects, or programs for all. Subreina is sincere and well respected by her colleagues. Subreina takes pride in her job and the individuals IAHD supports. We are proud to recognize her efforts!

Dear Friends,

It is my pleasure to send congratulations to The Institutes of Applied Human Dynamics (IAHD), an organization accredited by nationally recognized CQL, in support of its annual fundraiser. This remarkable organization was created in 1957 in response to a group of parents seeking supports and assistance for their children with special needs. I honor and recognize IAHD’s esteemed founder, Dr. Jack Gootziet, as remarkable humanitarian and citizen of the United States of America. His vision and insightfulness into starting an inclusive program that addresses the whole well-being of individuals with disabilities and their needs is commendable and facilitated the ambulation of children, who might not have otherwise learned to walk. Through its tireless advocacy and the adaptation of programs and services to meet the needs of people with intellectual and developmental disabilities, the IAHD has expand its broad network of supports and develop into the organization it is today.

IAHD continues to positively impact the lives of people with intellectual and developmental disabilities, and their families. Their focus to understand and respect each person's unique strengths, qualities and dreams and finding ways to support building fulfilled lives is emblematic of their value system in caring for people with intellectual and developmental disabilities.

IAHD recognizes that their efforts are made stronger through collaboration with community connections and partners such as: volunteers, neighbors, houses of worship, local libraries, parks and community centers to provide people with a variety of experiences to help them define their interests and find meaning in the activities they join. People are supported and encouraged to shop at community stores and retail warehouses, participate in programs offered by the parks department and community centers, use memberships at gyms and cultural locations, intern in their community art gallery and participate in a wide range of sports activities and league play in furtherance of ensuring that people experience inclusion and integration in the communities where they live, learn, work, and have fun.

Again, I extend my sincere congratulations to this valued and valuable organization and wholeheartedly support its goals and mission of caring for people with intellectual and developmental disabilities and providing these frequently marginalized individuals and families with opportunities for living a quality life. I join with the residents of Westchester County in thanking you for your diligence and conviction to your remarkable mission that will continue to positively impact the lives of people with intellectual and developmental disabilities and their families for generations to come.

I wish you continued success and may you have a wonderful event!

Sincerely,

George Latimer
